20-Jun-2009 — Two judges arrested in dowry case, sent to judicial custody ... charges of dowry harassment levelled by T Shashikala, wife of Kiran Kumar, ...

R Akhileshwari, Hyderabad, DH News Service:,

JUN 20 2009, 23:38 IST UPDATED: JUN 20 2009, 23:38 IST

According to the police, T Narasimha Rao, who is additional district judge and special judge for SC & STs (Prevention of Atrocities Act) in Mahbubnagar, and his son, T Kiran Kumar, who is a junior civil judge at Raidurgam in Anantapur district and his mother Narayanamma were arrested after Shashikala (28) complained against her in-laws and husband for harassing her for dowry after her marriage in 2005. She has a three-year-old son. The judges were arrested almost one year after the lodging of the complaint, as the police had to get permission from the High Court Registrar to proceed against them. They were remanded to 14 days' judicial custody.

According to Shashikala, who belongs to a rich family in Madhuranagar in Secunderabad, her father gave a dowry amounting to Rs 2 crore in the form of gold and cash and property, but her in-laws kept demanding for more. One of their demands was to transfer a palatial house in Shashikala's name to her husband's name. She also accused her in-laws of using their official position and bribe the police to arrest and torture her brother to force her to concede to their demands.

Hyderabad, June 20: A father-son duo, both judges in Andhra Pradesh, were arrested and remanded to judicial custody by a local court in connection with a dowry harassment case.

T Kiran Kumar, a junior civil judge of Anantapur who was under suspension and his father T Narasimha Rao, a district judge working at Mahaboobnagar were arrested following charges of dowry harassment by T Shashikala, wife of Kiran Kumar.

The duo, along with mother of Kiran Kumar, were arrested yesterday and produced in 13th Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate at Nampally criminal court that remanded them to 14 days judicial custody.

T Shashikala, wife of Kiran READ IN APP married in 2005, had lodged a complaint of dowry harassment at the  Women Police station in Central Crime Station (CCS), DCP (detective department) R S Praveen Kumar said today.

In her complaint, Shashikala charged that even after two years of their marriage, her husband and in-laws began harassment demanding additional dowry, he said.

In a strange case two judges -- father and son -- landed in jail in a dowry harassment case in Hyderabad. A court in the city remanded T Kiran Kumar, a magistrate, his father second additional district sessions judge of Mahbubnagar T Narasimha Rao and his wife Narayanamma to two weeks' judicial custody on the complaint of harassment for dowry.

The trio were arrested on the complaint of a medical doctor Shashikala that her husband Kiran Kumar and in-laws were torturing and harassing to bring more dowry. The deputy commissioner of police, detective department Praveen Kumar said that the arrests were made after getting clearance from the High Court as it involved judges.

The police produced the family before the 13th additional Chief Metropolitan magistrate, Hyderabad who remanded them to judicial custody for two weeks. This is first time that the people of level of judges have been arrested in connection with a dowry harassment case in the state.

Kiran Kumar, a junior civil judge at Raidurg in Anantapur district was already under suspension in another case of impropriety and his father was also likely to face a similar action. T Narasimha Rao was the judge of a special court for the cases of atrocities on scheduled castes and tribes.

Shashikala, a medical doctor, was staying with her parents for the last one year due to the harassment. His father is a theater owner in the city.

According to the family sources, at the time of the wedding in 2005, the groom's family had demanded a kilo gram of gold and Rs 5 lakh in cash which was met by the bride's parents. Subsequently the demands for more dowry continued.

The Central Crime Station (CCS) acted on a complaint lodged by the daughter-in-law, Shashikala (28), accusing her husband, father-in-law and mother-in-law Narayanamma of harassing her for dowry since her marriage on February 17, 2005. The couple has a three-year-old son.

Shashikala, who is from Madhuranagar in Secunderabad, had alleged in her complaint lodged on August 8, 2008, that despite a dowry of Rs 5.5 lakh and gold over 150 gm, her husband's family kept demanding more and wanted a house in Madhuranagar to be transferred in their name.

She also accused them of bribing cops to arrest and torture her brother. The CCS is also investigating charges of dowry harassment against three more persons  V Jyotsana Devi, B Bharati and B Ellappa.
